1.1 INTRODUCTION

The never-ending human desire to grow and grow further has given rise to the expansion of business activities, which in turn has necessitated the need to increase the scale of operations so as to provide goods and services to the ever-increasing needs of the growing population of consumers. Large amount of money, modern technology, large human contribution etc. is required for it, which is not possible to arrange under partnership or proprietorship. To overcome this difficulty, the concept of ‘Company’ or ‘Corporation’ came into existence.

While the invention of steam power ignited the human imagination to build big machines for the mass production of goods, the need to separate the management from ownership gave birth to a form of organisation today known as ‘company’.

Company form of organisation is one of the ingenious creations of human mind, which has enabled the business to carry on its wealth creation activities through optimum utilisation of resources. In course of time, company has become an important institutional form for business enterprise, which has carved out a key place for itself in the field of business operations as well as in the wealth-generating functions of society.

1.2 MEANING OF COMPANY

The word ‘Company’, in everyday usage, implies an assemblage of persons for social purpose, companionship or fellowship. As a form of organisation, the word ‘company’ implies a group of people who voluntarily agree to form a company.

The word ‘company’ is derived from the Latin word ‘com’ i.e. with or together and ‘panis’ i.e. bread. Originally the word referred to an association of persons or merchant men discussing matters and taking food together. However, in law ‘company’ is termed as company which is formed and incorporated under the Companies Act, 2013 or an existing company formed and registered under any of the previous company laws. As per this definition of law, there must be group of persons who agree to form a company under the law and once so formed; it becomes a separate legal entity having perpetual succession with a distinct name of its own and a common seal. Its existence is not affected by the change of members.

Company begs its origin in law. It is an organisation consisting of individuals, called shareholders by virtue of holding the shares of a company, who are authorised by law to elect a board of directors and, through it, to act as a separate legal entity as regards its activities. Generally, the capital of the company consists of transferable shares, and members have limited liabilities.

To get to the heart of the nature of the company, let us examine the concept of company propounded under corporate jurisprudence.

According to Justice Marshal, “A corporation is an artificial being, invisible, intangible and existing only in the contemplation of law”.

In the same manner, Lord Justice Hanay has defined a company as “an artificial person created by law with a perpetual succession and a common seal”.

A common thread running through the various definitions of ‘company’ is that it is an association of persons created by law as a separate body for a special purpose. At the same time, definitions have laid down certain characteristics of a corporate organisation, which make it out as a separate and unique organisation which enables the people to contribute their wealth to the capital of the company by subscribing to its shares and appointing elected representatives to carry out the business.

1.3 SALIENT FEATURES OF A COMPANY

Following are the salient features of a company:

1. Incorporated Association: A company comes into existence through the operation of law. Therefore, incorporation of company under the Companies Act is must. Without such registration, no company can come into existence. Being created by law, it is regarded as an artificial legal person.

2. Separate Legal Entity: A company has a separate legal entity and is not affected by changes in its membership. Therefore, being a separate business entity, a company can contract, sue and be sued in its incorporated name and capacity.

3. Perpetual Existence: Since company has existence independent of its members, it continues to be in existence despite the death, insolvency or change of members.

4. Common Seal: Company is not a natural person; therefore, it cannot sign the documents in the manner as a natural person would do. In order to enable the company to sign its documents, it is provided with a legal tool called ‘Common Seal’. The common seal is affixed on all documents by the person authorised to do so who in turn puts his signature for and on behalf of the company. Companies Act, 2013 required common seal to be affixed on certain documents (such as bill of exchange, share certificates, etc.) Now, the use of common seal has been made optional. All such documents which required affixing the common seal may now instead be signed by two directors or one director and a company secretary of the company.

5. Limited Liability: The liability of every shareholder of a company is limited to the amount he has agreed to pay to the company on the shares allotted to him. If such shares are fully paid-up, he is subject to no further liability.

6. Distinction between Ownership and Management: Since the number of shareholders is very large and may be distributed at different geographical locations, it becomes difficult for them to carry on the operational management of the company on a day-to-day basis. This gives rise to the need of separation of the management and ownership.

7. Not a citizen: A company is not a citizen in the same sense as a natural person is, though it is created by the process of law. It has a legal existence but does not enjoy the citizenship rights and duties as are enjoyed by the natural citizens.

8. Transferability of Shares: The capital is contributed by the shareholders through the subscription of shares. Such shares are transferable by its members except in case of a private limited company, which may have certain restrictions on such transferability.

9. Maintenance of Books: A limited company is required by law to keep a prescribed set of account books and any failure in this regard attracts penalties.

10. Periodic Audit: A company has to get its accounts periodically audited through the chartered accountants appointed for the purpose by the shareholders on the recommendation of board of directors.

11. Right of Access to Information: The right of the shareholders of a company to inspect its books of account, with the exception of books open for inspection under the Statute, is governed by the Articles of Association. The shareholders have a right to seek information from the directors by participating in the meetings of the company and through the periodic reports.
